Master of Development Studies (MDS-Professional)

Session: 2022 - 2023

BUP invites application from potential candidates for Master of Development Studies (Professional) under the Faculty of Arts & Social Sciences (FASS)

Why Study in MDS:

We are now in a brief hinge of history when the human society is struggling to enter a sustainable equilibrium. Every moment new challenges are arriving, and Development Studies is such a field which deals with human potential in changing societal structure; particularly concentrate on the issues relevant to the economically less developed countries and emphasizes the economic, environmental, social and political processes and their interactions. This Program is designed to produce professionals and skilled personnel who are aware of the local, regional, national and international issues that affect development and who can take a more informed and positive role in shaping the societies in which they live.

The 16-month MDS program provides solid and balanced academic and professional training in theory and methods relevant to development studies. The subjects of the program are designed to endow students with theoretical and methodological capabilities to conduct policy analysis and research and not just stress immediate practicability. Applied theories, techniques and tools are situated within a deeper understanding of their theoretical and methodological settings and hence MDS teaching establishes a balance between academic depth and professional relevance.
