ADMISSION ON MASTER OF DEVELOPMENT STUDIES (MDS-PROFESSIONAL) MDS 12TH BATCH, SESSION: 2025-2026

BUP invites applications from prospective candidates for Master of Development Studies (Professional) Program under the Department of Development Studies, FASS.

WHY STUDY MDS AT BUP?

The Master of Development Studies (Professional) is a 16-month graduate program that prepares future leaders to confront the urgent challenges of sustainable development in Bangladesh and across the Global South. Rooted in rigorous academic training and grounded in professional practice, the program equips students with the analytical tools, policy expertise, and field experience needed to drive meaningful change.

Students engage critically with theories of development while building practical skills in policy analysis, program design, project management, and applied research. The curriculum emphasizes real-world problem solving, linking classroom learning with the needs of communities, institutions, and policy environments.

Graduates emerge with the capacity to interpret development challenges from multiple perspectives and the professional ability to design and implement innovative solutions in collaboration with stakeholders at local, national, and international levels. The program cultivates graduates who are academically grounded, globally informed, and professionally prepared to lead in diverse development contexts.
